3.

The half-back has a broken back,
Oh hear the captain laugh,
He wants the referee to give
Two quarters for that half.
I think the half-back's dying,
By the way the doctors yell,
But do not laugh and show your joy,
Perhaps he may get well. Chorus.

A hunch-back runs across the field,
On him the players jump,
They think the ball's beneath his coat,
They don't know that's his hump,
The full-backs and the quarter-backs,
And half-backs may be downed,
But they will never put that hunch-back's
Shoulders to the ground. Chorus.

5.

Five men rush at the quarter-back,
They've tried to break his knee,
The clock struck two and now the Quarter, strikes the other three,
He knocks two of them down, and now
He's made the third man run,
There's lots of time to catch him, it's A quarter after one. Chorus.

The full-back and the centre-rush,
Are in a verbal fight,
The full-back says the centre rush
Is very impolite,
"That centre is no gentleman,"
He tells the referee,
For when I kicked him in the face,
He never noticed me. Chorus

7.

This game is getting very slow,
They ought to change the rules,
They've only killed six men so far,
Those gentle little fools,
There's only ten men injured, for
The referee is lax,
To liven up the game, he should Let each man have an axe. Chorus.

8.

Our captain is a coward, we'll
Forget him from this day,
He's only got two broken legs,
And yet he will not play.
He's paralysed below the waist, but
His excuse is chaff,
Because his first half's dead, he will Not play the other half. Chorus.

A song for the old Red White and Blue, the ban-ner of a na-tion strong and Hur-rah for the flag that made us free, be-neath it North and South are hand in free, But what mean the col-ors that we love so true, the hand, The sons of the men who fol-lowed Grant and Lee, are flag of our li-ber-ty? There's a star for each state in the one re-u-ni-ted band, They will fight side by side for the.
